

It is imperative that trucks and heavy SUVs be brought into fuel economy requirements which are meaningful. Not only should these heavy vehicles be required to meet more stringent fuel economy standards but they should be taxed such that the increased collision danger to smaller vehicles be compensated for. Let's have meaningful reform of a group of vehicles long exempt from reasonable standards.